MRS. LLEWELLYN WHITE, Tracy Mills, N.B.

"Lend Your Dollars—

We Gave Our Sons"

says MOTHER of LATE PILOT OFFICER EDWARD MURRAY WHITE, D.F.M.

ON FARMS, and in small villages throughout Canada, you will find thousands of women whose lives have been similar to that of Mrs. Llewellyn White.

Since her marriage, Mrs. White has lived at Tracy Mills, New Brunswick, where her husband has farmed in a small way. At the present time, Mr. White is an inspector in a wartime industry.

Her interests, Mrs. White says, were her family (two boys and two girls), her home and community work through the medium of the Women's Institute.

Her eldest son "Ted," Pilot Officer Edward Murray White, D.F.M., enlisted in the R.A.F. at the age of 18. A second son, Wendell also enlisted in the R.A.F. and has been in England for a year.

A highlight in Mrs. White's life was a cable announcing that "Ted" had received the coveted D.F.M. for courage in action. He had made 23 operational flights over Europe in a bomber. He was posted as Pilot Officer on March 7, this year, and was reported missing next day. Later his parents were informed that he had been killed in action and buried in Nuremburg, Bavaria.

Mrs White says:

"Having a family practically all connected with the active prosecution of the war, either as fighters or workers, it seems natural to us that we must provide the money to finance the war.

"We have always bought bonds and my sons have their money invested in them, knowing that the war cannot be won by the finest soldiers, if their hands are not upheld by complete equipment. All this means money.

"We, the mothers of boys over there, have given our precious sons to win this war. Won't you lend your dollars? Some of our boys may never come back, but you get your dollars returned with interest.

"Only if we respond to this appeal for money—and lend until it hurts—will we have done our share. The worth of our sons cannot be measured in mere money, but the worth of their sacrifice can be enhanced if all lend dollars for victory. Lend your dollars—we gave our sons."

Speed the Victory

BUY VICTORY BONDS

5-48

National War Finance Committee